

1ST INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF COACHING PSYCHOLOGY 2010 – 2011

The UK event will be hosted by the BPS Special Group in Coaching Psychology

14th and 15th December 2010, City University London, UK

The first in a series of events which form part of an International Congress held around the world. The SGCP co-sponsored stage will enhance the global integration of this rapidly developing discipline and profession; bringing together the coaching psychology community. Through debate and discussion together we can explore the contribution that coaching psychology makes for individuals, groups, organisations, and society. Other stages of the congress will be held during 2011, hosted in a number of countries including Australia, sponsored by their regional coaching psychology groups. Pre-congress events may also be held.

Details of the UK event can be found at www.sgcp.org.uk

Details of all the events can be found at: www.coachingpsychologycongress.org

New Format to the SGCP Annual Event!!

Each day will involve a mix of Research Papers, 90 Minute Skills Sessions, Keynotes, Half Day Masterclasses, Invited Speaker Sessions

Invited speakers include: Dr David Drake (USA), Dr Alison Whybrow, Hugh O'Donovan (Ireland), Prof Stephen Palmer, Prof Alex Linley, Alanna O'Broin, Dr Kristina Gyllensten (Sweden), Dr Jonathan Passmore, Dr Almuth McDowall, Dr Andrew Armastas (Greece), Peter Zarris (Australia), Prof David Lane, Pauline Willis, Dr Siobhain O'Riordan, Dr Ho Law, Julie Allan.....

We are sure that participants will be delighted with the breadth and depth of keynote presentations, masterclasses, skills workshops, research papers and poster presentations.

CALL FOR PAPERS

Deadline for submission approaching: See the website for details and forms

We invite you to consider presenting your work at this UK event. Submissions are welcomed from psychologists and non-psychologists, though submissions are required to be focused on the use of psychology in coaching. Participants in previous years' events describe their experience as one of warmth, openness and energy. For further information and submission details see the SGCP website: www.sgcp.org.uk or email sgcpcon@bps.org.uk

For members of the BPS, the 2010 membership fee to join SGCP is £8.50 (The cost to join the BPS as an affiliate member is £24). SGCP membership benefits include membership rates at our events and conferences and free copies of the 'International Coaching Psychology Review' and 'The Coaching Psychologist'.